

About St Theresa International College

Established in 2000 to provide education based on international standards, St. Theresa College offers internationally accredited programs and awards Bachelor's and Master's degrees together with Troy University, USA and Coventry University, UK. The college and the programs are fully accredited by the Commission on Higher Education, Ministry of Education.

The College has its main campus in Ongkarak, which is less than 70km from the center of Bangkok.

Graduate Diploma in Teaching Profession is the valid and lucid answer to the scarcity of competent and highly qualified teachers to handle the ever increasing educational needs of the community and ultimately the needs of the society of Thailand. It is conceived and devised to address the continuing and changing demands of education in the Royal Kingdom and bring about the much needed educational reforms as mandated by the Ministry of Education to keep abreast of the current trends to be globally competitive.

The program will be offered at the city campus of the college located at the heart of Bangkok on Surawong Road. The campus can easily be accessed by both BTS and MRT public transportation systems and is fully equipped with on-line education facilities and resources, thus providing ideal opportunity for working professionals to further the post graduate education.
