About The Program

How do I improve today's teaching techniques? Is there a more effective way people can learn? Our stimulating program offers you the opportunity to explore these questions and innovations by engaging with current research in teaching and learning processes. With the Master of Education in Learning Management program, you will engage with advanced level educational theory and develop enquiry skills required to understand and contribute to 21st century education.

This MED is aimed at future leaders in the fields of academics, policy, researcher and management where you will gain stronger expertise in teaching with in-depth knowledge in curriculum development and learning management.

Life of a Teacher

Being able to ignite curiosity and growth in their students is one of the most rewarding aspects of being a teacher. In Thailand, teachers are well respected by society with many schools offering attractive employment benefits such as housing, bonuses, health, and generous leave allowances, making Thailand an attractive destination for teachers. By completing the program, you will be qualified for following roles:

- Teacher/Lecturer
- Academic scholar in various fields
- Learning Manager, Trainer or Innovator
- Research and Quality Assurance Assessor
- Course/curriculum Designer
- Educational Business Entrepreneur
